Introduction

The rise of the Asian economy and the spread of influence among ethnic Chinese have turned Mandarin Chinese into a dominant language in the 21st century; the number of students studying Mandarin Chinese has also increased. NTNU is the largest and most prestigious Mandarin language training center and Mandarin language teacher cultivation center in Taiwan. NTNU trains first-rate Mandarin language talent from different countries who return to their homeland and dedicate their efforts to spread the Taiwanese culture; these students have provided significant assistance in elevating NTNU's professional, academic, and international image. However, many students lack the means to continuous professional training in their native homes, leading to substantial gaps in the training of advanced-level overseas Mandarin teachers.

To accommodate global digital learning trends and solve the shortage of advanced-level overseas Mandarin teachers, NTNU created the first "Online Continuing Education Master's Program of Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language" in 2016 to integrate NTNU's professional faculty resources in providing a channel for professional advanced studies for overseas Mandarin educators, or overseas professionals who wish to strengthen their teaching abilities. The program also seeks to cultivate advanced-level overseas Mandarin teachers to satisfy the global demand for professional Mandarin teachers as well as high-level talent and digital technology for the management of Mandarin language education applications.

Program Characteristics:

- A. Internationalized student recruitment
The program is designed for teachers currently working as Mandarin teachers overseas.
- B. Digitalized teaching model
Program courses are taught via distance learning.
- C. Specialized course design
Program courses have been certified by the Ministry of Education's digital learning curriculum.
- D. Diversified personnel training
The program provides training for advanced-level Mandarin teachers, Mandarin teaching and research personnel, as well as Mandarin teaching management personnel.
